Project Description	This program is in response to the negative impact of the pandemic, which disproportionately impacted people experiencing homelessness, who are both more likely to live in congregate settings where risk of transmission is higher and are more likely to have underlying health conditions that put them at increased risk of severe disease. Due to the pandemic, many shelters (especially those in congregate settings) were forced to operate at partial capacity in 2020 through part of 2022. DFSS will identify an agency to provide and operate a low-barrier shelter that meets the essential elements of a low-barrier model – as determined by national best practices and successfully operating programs. The agency will provide for basic needs (e.g., meals, kitchen access, showers), engage in diversion efforts, provide connection to housing options, and case management services. The proposed project will need to operate 24/7 and commit to policies and procedures that meet a lower barrier threshold for entrance and shelter than typical shelter sites (e.g., storage units for possessions, facilities for pets).
